

Health, Safety and Event Safety

Health and Safety legislation applies to most events.

The risk associated with an event should be assessed beforehand and the appropriate control measures put in place. This will involve a competent person completing the appropriate risk assessment.

Kent Events are qualified in all areas of event health and safety; we are experienced in liaising with all emergency services and partner agencies and can act as your event safety officers, ensuring all staff are fully briefed and aware of the real and potential risks.

We can also complete risk assessments for all industry from large companies to smaller businesses.

We are fully insured to give health and safety advice and guidance.
