

This is the transcription of a direct voice message from Mary Magdalena, which starts off as an address to our meditation group and then broadens out as an address to you who are reading this. It was decided to publish this short message in its entirety and not withhold that which refers to our group. Vince.

Mary Magdalena: My Beloved Children,

Tonight it is as always, it is a pleasure to join with you again as you meet to have your meditation, your thoughts, your prayers, and your love for humanity shared. The one thing that has struck me deeply is the compassion and the love I feel as I enter your humble abode. Humble it may be in material things but you are more than wealthy in the spiritual sense of things.

A spiritual sense of each of you is something that reaches deep within, it is something that has grown over many, many lifetimes and will continue to do so. The light that comes from each of you is wondrous, if only others of your kind could see this light as I see it when I enter. It glows and radiates; it changes from a magnitude of colours into an eternity of colours; colours that you would not even know existed in your current form.

What goes on in your planet breaks my heart at times as I walk amongst the devastation, the loss, the grieving people, those that are sick, those that will die, those that are dying, those that are newly born, those that are growing; my heart goes out to each and every one of you. Nobody ever said it would be an easy life this time, and it is proving correct. But to come to your beloved sanctuary, for that is what this is becoming, is a pleasure. It is a pleasure to enter the door, to be welcomed with love, and to be able to share my love with you; to be able to place my hand on each of your heads, to give you my healing and my blessing and my love, that is what it is all about really.

It is about what is inside each and every one of you, for you are all My Children. Whether you have been good today, not so good, or very bad; you are all My Children and I love each and every one of you. We look deep within each of you and we see that there is a God-Spark in every single being on Earth. Sometimes the God-Spark is buried deep, sometimes it is too deep, but wherever we see that God-Spark we try our best to help. It takes but one step on the path, just one step towards the Light; just one step, one question, one plea for help, and we are there. We then hold your hands as you walk and take each step, as you face each challenge, as you undertake each task, as you learn each lesson; and when you learn we rejoice. When you perhaps don't do as well as you could, we also rejoice; we rejoice that we still have the chance to continue to help you to reach your goal, and your goal at the end of the day is to be reunited with us, to come home, to live in the realms that we live in, to have the understandings, the access to the Halls of Learning and just the sheer pleasure and love of being; the time that you do not need to eat or drink, for you are of the purest of light that exists, purer than you can ever imagine.

All of this My Children is part of your journey, and a journey I am proud and honoured to take with you. Hold out your hand to me, let me take it in mine and we will start the journey one step at a time. Wherever you are in the world, whoever you are, whatever you have done, remember you are My Children and I love you, and I always will.

On this note I bid you good evening and this part of the message now ends.

Mary Magdalena.
