

ERETHEA CHANNELLING ARCHIVE

S333 - MESSAGES - FEBRUARY 2010

PREDATING ERETHEA BLOG

Welcome,

17th May 2010

I had been receiving spiritually channelled messages from my Spirit Guides for over twenty years, starting with poetry and moving on to clairvoyant messages for myself and my family, and for some friends. I had been given this spiritual gift following a long period of sitting in a spiritual development group, and eventually I ended up running my own group.

The group leader of the home based circle became a very dear friend of mine, and he was a man of high spiritual principles. He was a modest person, who was fair and generous, without a shred of jealousy; and was a highly accomplished medium and spiritual healer.

Under his guidance I developed a number of spiritual gifts including Healing, Clairvoyance and Channelling. I am interested in accurately identifying the being who wishes me to be their channelling partner, and to do my best to accurately transcribe the messages they gave me, and publish them where appropriate. Being human, sometimes minor typographical errors creep in, even though I proof read the pieces a number of times, but the meaning of the messages are never compromised.

Some of the beings with whom I am a channelling partner also channel with other people elsewhere in the world, but I don't read or comment on these pieces, for I am here solely to receive and publish the items which I am asked to do. In consultation with the Spiritual Hierarchy during early May 2010, it was decided that I should set up the Erethea Blog as a dedicated place to publish new pieces, and that the previous work should be made available as an archive.

We start with the introduction to S333, a member of the Spiritual Hierarchy, on 4th February 2010, and the series of intensive and remarkable messages which were published elsewhere on the Internet before being included in this archive.

I am the Copyright Owner for all of this work.

©2010 - Vince – ERETHEA Blog.

<http://erethea.blogspot.com/>

An Introduction to S333 channelled by Vince – 4th February 2010

2PM

S333 - You are a valuable asset to us, and it is preferred that you remain our asset, and not be on loan to other Masters. There are reasons why, so just leave it at that.

Now the good news, you may channel us!

Vince - Who are you then?

S333 - What's in a name?

Vince - We won't get far if you keep answering my questions with questions of your own.

S333 - I do not wish to reveal my name, or who we are. We are not any of your guides, although we access you via the frequency bridge you built with them over 20 of your years ago. This is well established and in good order, so it's fine for our purpose.

We are a Source of Great Light, but not THE source of all that is, which I know you find a tad irritating, because in a very 3rd dimensional Human way, you want a name, or some other kind of handle to grab hold of. There are in your world great jealousies within the collective of those who channel, there is also a way of doing things where the individual has to have a name to enable them to feel that they are dealing with a source of an impeccable spiritual nature, from a place 'On High'.

Well, we are such a source, and for that reason, we do not consider it appropriate to reveal the nature and position that we hold, so we will give you an identifying label, which is next to being anonymous, but which serves as a handle.

Vince - Where I'm involved, it's never simple, is it?

S333 - In our view it's very straightforward indeed, and the label you require is 'S333'. Look, it's full of lovely curvy digits; and they're so nice.

Vince - Are you having a laugh?

S333 - Yes & No. We are deadly serious about the S333, for there is much disinformation around, and no one in their right mind in your world is going to latch onto S333 as being of any consequence at all, and pretend they channel us; and for all they know, we are of little or no consequence.

Vince – And for all I know as well.

S333 - Yes, and that is the point. We intend to speak the truth and as you will see, everything we write is truthful, or it is nothing. You will recognise the truth, as equally you would recognise fictitious disinformation. Our words stand or fall by what they are, and not because they originate from a source with a grand name; whatever that may be.

Vince - OK then S333, when do you intend to start?

S333 - That's enough for today, and serves as our introduction to the Material World. Until next time we send you all of our Love.

8PM

Vince – Hello S333 are you around and available?

S333 – At your service My Son.

Vince - I can't get over this S333 business; can I call you 'S' for short; or should I say '3' perhaps?

S333 – I see you have your tongue in your cheek again. You may call me David if you wish, I don't mind, but you are still no further forward in finding out who I am. That is your aim isn't it? Push, push; a little here; a little there and one day bang, bash, wallop; the secret's out!!! But it isn't going to work, and the sooner you get used to the idea that it is our desire to remain unknown, the better. It's going to have to be S333 and/or David, and that's all you're going to get.

Vince – What do you want me to do with this and any subsequent channellings?

S333 – You may do with them whatever you wish. We have many things to discuss, and these will be primarily of interest to you and your confidantes. But if you wish to you can publish them as a Blog on the Internet, and these can also be published elsewhere on the web as you deem fit. Really, the most important thing is that they influence your future and activities in a beneficial way, as we are seeking to have long term benefits manifesting in your world.

As a suggestion, as you receive the first few channellings, keep them to yourself for a while, until you can see the general thrust of what we are saying, and then you can decide if you want to Blog them.

Vince – That feels comfortable David; because as you have crept up behind me on this one, I don't want to publish them to a wider audience, until I feel comfortable with the idea. As you know I prefer to remain very firmly in the shadows behind the scenery.

S333 – Quite right too, and do you now feel comfortable referring to me as David?

Vince – Yes, it doesn't feel as strange as I thought it would; and I know that in itself may sound strange, but a lot more comfortable than S333.

S333 – Well Vince, that's all we can ask of you today, that you accept us in the way we have asked you to, and that allows us to move onto the next stage in the coming days. This is merely our introduction to you, and as we are now comfortable with each other, let the messages begin as we deem appropriate.

S333 Channelling #10-0002 by Vince – 5th February 2010

Commence 10:15 hrs

S333 – Good Morning my Son, how are you today?

Vince – A bit fragile thanks and this ribcage thingy hurts like the blazes.

S333 – Well, that comes with falling through the ceiling.

Vince – Yes David, I should have been much more careful.

S333 – Are you up for some channelled stuff today?

Vince – Yes, we could do if you wish.

S333 – Right then, here we go.

Much has been written from this side of the veil about Ascension and related matters, but in another sense little has been written about it. There are those whose job it is to give you messages introducing and updating events, both from the Angelic Realms and from Starfleet personnel. They carry out their duties well, and their information is good.

But, there is a vast block of information missing, which they cannot comment upon in any detail at this time, and that is what happens when the Disclosure and Ascension start point is reached, and beyond? Ascension is happening now, because the higher energies are flooding into Earth, but there is a tipping point, which is set to coincide with Disclosure of Extra Terrestrials, which can be seen as the kicking off point of the whole process, according to the Human mind.

It has rightly been said that there will be a period of Stasis, when every living thing on Earth will pause, and geological events, cleansing activities and human removals will take place. But not much has been written about the next bit. True we hear about co-creational activities, and there are major plans regarding banking, wealth & debt forgiveness and the reformation of government activities; but what about the level of activity on the ground where you live?

Bear in mind that we expect a very large number of humans and animals to be removed from Earth during this period. The animals will be thinned out by species, and numbers within the species. You can expect animals that are very wild and dangerous to animal and human life to be removed totally, species like Crocodiles & Hippos for example, where they are hangovers from ancient and less pleasant times. Where there are overpopulations and infestations of various species which are expected to remain on Earth, they will be cut back drastically, and given maximum population parameters within their revised DNA, so that their breeding instinct is switched off when those limits are reached. The same applies to vegetation; so that only the pleasant stuff remains, and volumes are kept in check.

With Humanity, there is to be an upper limit as to what the Earth will support, and with a totally new way of reproducing, humans will also have an instinct to stop producing when the upper limits are reached. The humans remaining on Earth will be of an altogether more spiritual makeup, than the total mix of the present age. The bulk will be removed during Stasis to other planets more appropriate to their vibrations.

You have experienced Stasis before, and so it will be no surprise to you, except that you won't be waking up to 2 weeks growth on the lawn, it will be vastly different. In your own suburb of your great metropolis that is London, England there are very many houses, apartments, shops and factories, because of the large number of people there at present. But, what if 70% to 80% of them and their animals are no longer there; don't you think that's going to be strange?

Vince – David, that's going to be more than strange, and it throws up all sorts of questions.

S333 – Save them for later, please.

Things which are very much 3rd Dimensional, are unlikely to survive for any length of time in a 5th Dimensional environment, and you are aware that Earth and it's remaining peoples are to become 5th Dimensional, after a period of transition across the 4th Dimensional 'Bridge', as we call it. So every being, and every thing remaining on Earth, is subject to these dimensional changes.

The beings, creatures and vegetation not staying will just not be there after Stasis, but most of the 'Things' will be. Housing, for example will still be there and much of it will survive into a 4th Dimensional reality, but part way into the 5th Dimension, it will be unable to continue because of the different atomic structure. Humans are changing night in, night out, as we speak, but the prognosis for concrete and brick isn't so good and in time your built environment will need to be replaced.

This should perhaps not be seen as a negative factor, but as a huge opportunity to construct a totally new built environment to suit the lives of a Galactic society. As we have said, these changes will be gradual, and can be tackled on an as & when basis.

The main difficulty for the remaining human population will essentially be twofold. Firstly there will be major geological events happening during the Stasis period. It is impossible at this stage to say what they will be, as Earth adjusts to her new reality, but major volcanic activity, earthquakes and tsunamis are inevitable, and some land masses will disappear from view, and other will appear. You can certainly expect a new continent in the Pacific Ocean.

When you 'awake' from Stasis, you will be presented with a very different world. There will be many people missing; some cities, regions and countries will be missing or of a different configuration; there will be beings from other planets around. Many people will be totally bewildered, there will be domestic animals seeking food and water, as their owners will not be around.

Every place of employment will have many people missing; houses and apartments will be empty; roads, rail and airlines will be quiet; food production; power supplies and drinking water may be disrupted. But no one can tell you how you are going to be affected with any degree of certainty, because nobody knows how the process from now to post Stasis will unfold.

In isolated areas subject to minimal geological activity or less, it will be easier for the people to re-establish a civilisation; but in densely built urban areas it will be much more difficult, and where there is moderate to major geological activity worse still, or even impossible.

Of course there will be much help available from Starfleet personnel, and new technologies will be available to assist, but you should expect to see major upheavals with your society. Self starters and innovators will have the edge in post Stasis society.

At that point we will take a break. (11:40 hrs)

11:50hrs

S333 – Let us continue.

Of the Humans remaining, only a tiny fraction can be regarded as 'Lightworkers' (for want of a better description) and to use a term, 'we know who they are'. There are people who are totally unaware at the conscious level, that they have a mission ahead of them. Some of them have skills vital to the reconstruction of a post Stasis galactic society; but all of them will be fully aware of that at the appropriate time, when they will be contacted by the appropriate spiritual authority.

There may be some attempts by remaining governmental sources from the pre-Stasis society, to implement a local, regional or national disaster recovery plan, and in many cases these will end in failure, as they are not based on spiritual principles.

There is going to have to be some major readjustments by people to a completely new way of life. Even allowing for the higher vibration and spiritual principles of 4th & 5th Dimensional beings, you will be at the beginning of a totally new cycle after Stasis, and the old one will have finished; so don't expect everything to be set up for you. This is where the co-creational element comes in. It is for use in constructing the new society at local, regional and national levels; without empires and supra-national groupings outside of the control of its citizenry, and everyone's voice must be heard and their views taken into consideration, however inconvenient this may seem within the various new layers of authority, else such a new society will crumble, like a wall with inadequate foundations.

You the people have to set the agenda, and ensure that it's carried out to the letter.

13:26hrs

S333 – Let us continue, shall we?

Vince – OK David, off we go.

S333 – Consider a sub-urban housing estate of one mile square, in which there could be thousands of houses, according to the layout and size. There would have been several thousand people living there, of all ages, both sexes, various racial and ethnic backgrounds, with a whole variety of languages spoken. How likely is it that there will be even one 'Lightworker' living inside that area?

Vince – Not very likely.

S333 – Very, very unlikely; so what is to become of them?

Well, there will be Starfleet extra terrestrials on hand, and their spirit guides and helpers. Then how likely is it that they will believe that the ET's are there to help them, and they probably won't know that they've even got Spirit Guides. Not a promising start, I think you'll agree? After all, they've been lied to by government and the media for generations, why should they believe what they are told now?

Therein lays the potential for a huge problem, for if they simply won't believe their new reality, then we have got big problems.

15:00hrs

People will need to be led along the right pathway post Stasis, and with various forms of government including the emergency services, transport, police, fire and ambulance; all equally depopulated, they will have to rely on Starfleet personnel and volunteers to fill the void. That is where the community spirit will begin to build from, but it will be a totally different society, without the corruption and greed of the present one.

As part of the reconstruction, there will in time need to be clearances of debris and much of the old style of infrastructure which will no longer be relevant with the new technologies.

It is very probable that once the announcements of Disclosure of ET's is made, followed by programmes depicting the ways that you have all been misled by the Dark Ones, there will be unrest by people seeking retribution or revenge. This is quite understandable, and they will have been told that such action is pointless; but we envisage that we may have to intervene to cease any such disharmony, as there will be enough constructive matters to attend to without this distraction.

S333 Channelling by Vince – 7th February 2010

Commence 10:45 hrs

S333 – Good morning My Son, how are you?

Vince – Not bad David, thanks for asking.

S333 – We wanted to comment on the post Stasis map overview of Earth (Urantia), which you saw on the website today.

Vince - OK David, fire away!!

S333 – Firstly we are not saying it is wrong or far fetched; but it is a snapshot of a vision given to its' earthly creator, as to what could happen; but not what will happen. This distinction is crucial to understand, because it applies to all predictions of this kind relative to Earth post Stasis.

There is a very important variable factor involved, according to how the new Light Energies bring about spiritual upliftment with vast groups of Humanity. We are not yet in a position to draw a line under mankind, and say that 'x' billions are ready to ascend, and 'y' billions are ready for removal; for it is still in development, and will continue right up until Stasis kicks off.

That final set of figures is going to have a profound effect on what will take place, and must not be discounted. There are factors such as displacement of water by land mass to be taken into consideration, but the Appearance versus Disappearance of regions, countries and continents could well turn out to be roughly equivalent.

The Pacific Ocean, for example, is a vast stretch of water crying out for a new land mass in it, and one will certainly appear. Some existing land in the Pacific Rim area will disappear, with some degree of equivalence and for some communities therein, the result will be devastating, but some regions expected to vanish from view will not, for already there is a lightening within humanity, which will provide an appropriate offsetting factor within the natural equation.

I want to spell this out in large letters, that the results are flexible and are; "NOT SET IN STONE". The lighter the collective Human spirituality shines, the better the outcome will be.

As you may imagine, when a continent emerges from the ocean floor to form a new land mass, it won't be available to settle upon immediately, and will take some time. There will also be mountains in parts of the world, which will disappear from view; lakes will appear as well. It will be a wholesale remodelling of a planet, in readiness for a new natural cycle.

[PAUSE]

11:30hrs

There are on your planet a group of areas which we may term 'fleshpots' where humanity of a low vibration gathers for events of an unenlightened nature. These areas will be cleansed or destroyed, as they have no place in a Galactic Society based on spiritual principles.

S333 Channelling #10-0007 by Vince – 9th & 10th February 2010

9th February 2010

S333 – Now that you've eaten can we channel for a while?

Vince – Yes, we can.

S333 – There are some awkward questions arising, which concern the time of Stasis, and I'm going to mention just a few.

What will be the likely pattern of events in any given place on your planet? Nobody knows. Will some of the coasts of Australia and the USA disappear? Possibly, maybe, or not; nobody knows, until the end of Stasis.

It really is that straightforward; maybe whole swathes of coastline will disappear, and maybe just limited parts; or even just insignificant areas will go. There are many people forecasting disaster, with the recent tragedy in Haiti as an example of what to expect.

Look back to the Christmas Tsunami, many areas appeared to be devastated, and many lives were lost; but life goes on and much has been done by the people to rebuild some of their communities. All is not lost. Of course many of the people who died, and those who survived but lost family members, suffered; but in the vast majority of cases this was connected with offsetting negative karma. The same will be true of the Stasis event.

If we were to say; 'will you have a roof over your head after Stasis', then the obvious answer is that some people will, and some people won't? But if 70% to 80% of the population are moved to other 3rd Dimensional planets, then in the short term, many people will be able to find alternative housing, if theirs is badly affected.

Patience, flexibility and good will are commodities which will be in great demand, and if you can find these within you then you will survive in the circumstances in which you find yourselves. Other citizens, loved ones, and family members, who are going to the other 3rd Dimension planets, will be starting a form of civilisation and have their own co-creational opportunities, which will occupy them gainfully, and through those experiences, they will once again be on a positive evolutionary path.

There will be some people who qualify for Ascension to the 5th Dimension, who will not wish to be parted from a loved one, and will choose to continue elsewhere in the 3rd Dimension, and help them. If done for a truly spiritual reason, then this is a magnificent act of unselfishness, and certainly counts towards their long term spiritual growth in a major way.

10th February 2010

Vince – I'm ready to continue if you are David?

S333 – Yes, off we go!

Before you slept yesterday, you asked what would happen if somebody started a project now, intending it to carry on after Stasis, and that's easy to answer.

If they feel deep inside that they must do it, then that is their wake-up call to get started. But, if there is the merest shadow of a doubt, and they have searched deep within them and found a doubt or hesitation, then take heed of it and wait till they reach the Post Stasis reality.

There are so many unknown factors involved with the locality any given individual is currently living in, and New Delhi will be different to Moscow; Sydney to London; Houston to Cape Town; and so on. You could very well find that you have completely wasted much valuable resources on commencing the project, because the Post Stasis reality is entirely different to your expectations.

For some people, the reality will be beyond their wildest dreams, as to how good it will be for them to start up in their locality; whilst for others, they will be beset with many seemingly insurmountable problems. So, with any Pre Stasis start-up, go deep within and find out if you are cleared for take-off; if not, then wait till you are; and remember this: 'They also serve, who only stand and wait'.

What about removals of loved ones, and of the many billions who will be going elsewhere, isn't this a horrible event for them?

No, not really. They will be going to a new reality, and will by and large have no memory of their recent past, except that it's in the nature of things for a few individuals to get a 'bleed through' into their consciousness. Their new 3rd Dimensional reality will no longer be fallen and infected with darkness, so they will thus be no worse off. Where there are unpleasant removals, then this will be for reasons of karma, but they will have no memories of this, and will be able to fully participate in the creation of a genuine 3rd density environment, as it was meant to be, without the greed and corruption; so they will be very much better off than they are now. Do not weep for them, for they will be fine, and when you meet up with them again, you will all take great delight in recounting your individual experiences.

Please, please, please; do be kind and generous to the so-called Dark Hats, for without their greed and corruption as a catalyst in your present cycle, you would not have advanced as rapidly as you have done. They too have a piece of our Creator within them, so if you were to seek revenge, you would in fact be hurting yourself in more ways than you could envisage.

What about the various forms of Government, Post Stasis?

Well, they mostly have no remit from the people at present, and that applies equally after Stasis. Ascension is a huge spiritual leap forward, and as we have said, Starfleet personnel, the ones from the Angelic Realms, and your Guides will be there to help you through the transition between the different realities. It will be clear that elements of 3rd Dimensional Government will still be around Post Stasis, and may still seek to govern, even though it will have been explained that it is not their place to do so.

In some cases, we will license them to help out in the short term through the difficulties, particularly where they have relevant skills available. But, like everyone else, they will only be permitted to operate in a governmental function on a long term basis, if they are over and above a certain spiritual level, and then only with the agreement of the people.

It has taken a very long time, by the measure of your years, for a solution to be found about the darkness infecting parts of your universe, and so by Divine decree, we're not going to repeat the same process, where greed and corruption takes hold again. Trust me on this!!!

A person planting rice in a paddy field in China will have the same rights as a well known personality in New York, and this ruling will be embedded not only in the rules of your new reality, but in the revised DNA of each 5th Dimensional human. Would it surprise you to learn that this will also apply in the 3rd Dimension as well? Mankind will still have freewill, but the Divine law will be embedded in the DNA, and thus the individual will be steered back onto the lawful path automatically, rather than let the situation fester, and send the dark rot to the other apples in the same barrel.

I am aware that some phrases like 'apples in barrels' do not necessarily translate easily into other languages, so translators will need to be creative in their work.

Now let me turn to aspects of your society. It has taken you many thousands of years to reach your present situation of development. With the new 3rd and 5th Dimensional realities, you are where exactly?

Vince – At the beginning, I'd say.

S333 – Yes, at the beginning. Whatever conditions you find yourself in, that's your start position. Now, we know from studies that Man does best when he's struggling to contend with a difficult brief; and when he's got to the easier stuff, he begins to get decadent. Well, this time the Decadent Button has been removed!!

For those Ascending to the 5th Dimension, there are elements of the previous civilisation still in situ. Much of it will have to suffice for the time being because there will be some big issues to get to grips with, but gradually you will have to reconstruct the built environment.

The main issues will be how to construct governmental organisations in the new society, to reflect the wishes of the people. There are already some people placed where we want them, and others will be selected as and when required. There will be massive re-education programmes for teaching everyone how to live in a 5th Dimensional Galactic society. It is going to be some time before everyone is reading from the same page, but it is essential that they do, because otherwise the society just won't work properly.

Most people have skills other than just those they use for their day job, and all of these are going to be valuable in the creation process. Starfleet personnel will be on hand to walk you through the new technologies; and do you know what, you're going to love them? You'll wonder how you got by with what you currently use.

There are machines which think by themselves, computers light years ahead of your most advanced ones, and our transportation is second to none. For every task there is an advanced technology available, and if you currently have trouble setting a digital alarm clock, don't worry it all works intuitively. "Like what"; I hear the audience declare?

Well, it's like Santa's sack at Christmas. You know it contains all sorts of goodies, and you can't wait, but you have to. So it will come as no surprise that just like Santa's sack, you're going to have to wait. And the reason for this is the arrogance of the Dark Governing Cabal of your present reality. They have got certain advanced technologies, compared with what you have available, and they think they know it all, but they don't. If we were to reveal just a fraction of what we've got and what we can do with it, that knowledge would give them an advantage which we don't want them to have. Just talking about something sets off a train of thought, which at some point is hijacked by them into their depot, and not ours. Thoughts create things, and so the Illuminati are best left in the dark as to what we've got and how we can deploy it.

Really, I'd love to share these gadgets with you, and if we could show you the technical specs, all of you techno fans would be in Gadget Heaven. It would even serve to convince the usual sceptics on Internet boards; you know, the ones who say, "Photo and Spec, else it doesn't exist!" But, we don't intend to let the Illuminati reverse engineer any of these great products, and so you'll just have to wait, I'm sorry to say.

There are other issues like that, and that is why some channelled messages become fuzzy when it gets down to the nitty gritty, as you would say. To have an image or knowledge of something is a form of empowerment, and for that empowerment to get into the wrong hands, is the road to get severely beaten with your own stick. We've had plenty of that, so that's why we're keeping it all to ourselves at this time.

Consider if you will just a few of your urban and sub-urban services which make life tolerable; Water, Gas, Electricity, Phone, TV, Radio, Sewers, Street Cleaning, and the list goes on. Well, if they get interrupted by geological events, the chances are that they are going to be difficult to fix.

Take the size of your present community as 100%, take away 70% to 80% of the population, and you may not be left with 20% to 30% of the trained technicians required to ensure your water supply continues; you may have removed 100% of them, or 10% of them. How would you get water from where it is collected to where it is consumed? Well, firstly we have small devices which remove some of the humidity from the air and purify it ready for use. Where there is very dry air, it is possible to collect fresh water or sea water, humidify the dry air and transmit it to the small devices for extraction and purification.

When you are in a position to understand how this technology works, you will then be able to see that water can be taken from any ocean and sent to bone dry land in the middle of a vast continent where it ends up as pure water of drinking quality, and is available in staggering quantities. There is no pipeline required and energy consumption is modest, using freely available energy, and some equipment which is cheap to make and replicate. Thus food can be grown in most places on Earth, where the climate is not freezing.

You see, the Bankers, the Oil & Coal Barons and their masters have been very stupid, because they sought to get rich with gold and paper money, and that's exactly what they did; they got stinking rich, so rich they were rolling in it. And in all cases of monetary wealth, it is extracted willingly and unwillingly; overtly and covertly, from the rest of the community, many of whom couldn't afford it.

They thought material wealth was real wealth, but of course it is nothing of the sort; it's just paper and metal. You will find as you migrate to your 5th Dimensional reality, that real wealth is respect, happiness, love, spirituality, and paper notes and metal coins are just trading tokens, and everybody is going to get their fair share of these. That means, you won't have to take objects into a shop to barter with, you will use tokens just like the money you now use; but unlike them; if a person hoards and covets them, he will not be looked upon as a wonderful person, but as the fool he really is!!!

If a man invents a product or device which will benefit the community, it will be developed fully and not suppressed so that others make money by hiding it, and the kudos associated with the inventor will be his true wealth.

Now I am telling you this for very good reasons, because we want your citizens to know that after Stasis life goes on, not the same, but differently; and there are technologies available to help you live your life. For each problem there is a solution, but we are not going to go into them all as previously mentioned. However, the water thingy is a good example of our engineering and how we can apply it to resolve these issues, which aren't really daunting at all.

Food isn't a problem either, so when you hear doom laden comments about how awful things are going to be, remember that we have solutions to help you overcome these problems. You will be in a new and genuinely exciting place with a whole world of opportunities open to all those who qualify.

S333 - The New Energies – channelled by Vince - 13th February 2010

S333 – I have many things to tell you in the coming weeks, and some of them are going to stretch your imagination. The true test of whether what I say is correct is if it has the ring of truth; and when the events and topics referred to have taken place. Rest assured that we trust you as a channel of receiving our messages accurately and spiritually.

Vince – That's OK then, I'll do my best for you.

S333 – There is energy of a different kind being beamed into your planet's atmosphere, and I know that you are beginning to feel a level of excitement. Now, I am very familiar with you, more so than you can possibly be aware of, and I know that as a result of your spiritual training over the last 30 years, you don't get excited. There are no events of any kind which bring you true excitement, but now you are beginning to pick up this certain vibration, which is a signal of things to come.

I know that you have read many so-called channellings, and some of them are truthful and others disinformation. Even many of the truthful ones have become bland as if they were turning out unflavoured porridge week in week out. But, in the last few days, you have become aware of the start of a new age, through just a few channels by good souls, and as a result of the work I have started to do with you.

There are liars at the helm of your material reality, and it is endemic. Every strand of government; every strand of business and every strand of your daily lives are infested by these Dark Fleas & Lice. Most people do not have the faintest idea how their lives are manipulated so that they render vast sums of money and their personal freedom; to keep these human insects rich and yourselves poor. Poverty between what you term the 'West' and the 'Third World' is a relative matter; it is poverty none the less.

Whether you have just lost your house in a G7 country because you could no longer afford the payments, or you can't afford adequate rice to feed yourself in packing case shanty town in India or China, it is still poverty. It was God's decree that you should have all of your daily needs available for you, so that you could work at your spiritual progression, and build your community so that others too would also make such progress. But, the greedy dark insects hijacked your reality, and turned it to their own advantage, so that taxations are imposed upon you more and more each year, and even more are planned.

At this stage of our 'game' with the darkness, we are pleased that we have gained more traction with our objectives, and the darkness are on very slippery ground, and gradually beginning to shift off course. We are speeding up events, so that it is like a water gun, also firing tennis balls at them as they slip and slide, desperately trying to catch the balls, but dropping ever more with each extra increase in the speed. This is our way of explaining a situation to you, as it will form a picture in your mind, and you will also not be bogged down in the vast details of how your world is run. Suffice it to say that change is happening.

It is an ongoing process, and there is no end date!!! That's right, no end date. Where previously there was a timetable of sorts, and theoretical dates proposed, these never came to fruition. Some things were badly delayed, yet others worked quicker than ever we could of imagined, and it is the net effect of these matters which have crept round behind the scenes, and as you would have put it, 'bit them in the rear'!!! We find some of your sayings very amusing, and very human.

Ascension is a process which will last as long as it lasts, and it isn't an event which will happen on any given day in 2012, or any other year. It isn't a matter of your linear time; for as you know, time does not exist. Time is the measurement of light and darkness as it appears to rotate around the world; it is just that; a measurement, which the Dark Controllers found very useful for conditioning humanity, and then controlling it. The reality is that the Past, Present and Future are all aspects of the NOW, and not separate things in their own right. It is difficult for 3D humanity to understand that, but at last the penny has finally dropped with your understanding of this.

As we write this, Armed Forces are killing more people in Afghanistan, and the objective is the total control of the Narcotic Poppy crop production, to force up the street price in coming months, as the Dark Ones are desperate for money, and the official channels for exporting this to the West are the armed forces as guardians, with CIA & MI6 operating the distribution and financial side of the operation. But, switch on the TV news, and they'll tell you they are going to take the crop back from the Taliban, and destroy the crop. Rest assured that this is NOT the truth, and it is just a continuation of the Opium Wars, with which the British Governments have been associated over many centuries. It is a very BAD business my friends.

That however brings me to the conclusion of this message, until the next time.

And so it is.....

S333.

Dear People,

I AM David S333, which is how I choose to be known to you in your material world. I am from a place currently invisible to you, and yet I am concerned for your welfare.

There are it would appear, plenty of people on your world who just don't care what's going on in the skies above their planet. Indeed they just don't know either. There is the most auspicious event ever to happen in the history of your collective lives, and your TV programmes are of utmost interest, it seems, but not the Starfleet craft in your skies.

We have to ask ourselves why that is, and we have reached the conclusion that it is a very 3rd Dimensional Human thing to do. Your lives have been defined by your fellow mankind, as little more than a cash crop for their own enrichment. Why plough the land themselves, when they can rob you instead?

Unless you are of the lucky and tiny minority, from the very moment you are born into this world of yours, you are forced to conform in all areas of your life. Even the people who 'drop out' are conforming to an approved pattern of behaviour. You have all the vaccinations 'they' want you to have, and which cause so many medical problems in later life.

You go to school to learn, and together with the basic language and numeracy skills you learn other lessons on subjects which are so very far from the truth. Modern interpretations of history are what the elite want you to believe, not what actually happened. The whole knowledge base which the majority learn from has been adulterated to a mere shadow of its former self. Technical knowledge of things like engineering and science for example, are taught in such a way as to equip you to fit into a certain role in your society, and not so that you will produce innovations which will benefit mankind to any degree, only to enrich the bank accounts of the bloodsuckers who want a percentage of everything you earn, at every turn of the multi-layered aspects of this reality.

For example, where a man or company would buy a vehicle and start up a service, earning money from his customers, there was a straightforward issue, but now, the elite have clouded the water. The vehicle has to be 'financed' and 'leased', and there are 'quality contracts', financial penalties and vast contractual obligations which have been introduced in all areas of life. This is a sign of a society out of YOUR control.

Gone are the days when a client and a supplier mutually agreed to a common aim, shook hands on the deal and got on with life. It was honest and spiritual, but has no place in a world run by financial crooks. Thus we have draconian contracts, franchising, leasing; layer upon layer of obligational rubbish piled up where once there was this simple and honest agreement. That's how these crooks exist by churning over the conditions so that there is a percentage to be made on every turn.

In this age of financial comparison websites, the crooks have got people churning round credit card deals, insurance contracts, bank accounts, mortgages and many more things; and everyone prides themselves that they have got the best deal for the cheapest price. Well people, I've got news for you, that you have nothing of the sort. What you have got is a system which forces you to make apparently good deals, but which produce many more of these little percentage bundles for the crooks.

The Scots say, "Many a Mickle makes a Muckle"; meaning that lots of little sums of money add up to make a huge one. The system has been carefully thought out and implemented, so they have more money and you have less, but on the surface the opposite appears to be the case.

The various churches are worthy of a look as well. Some of the wealthiest organisations on the planet are religious/church organisations, with vast property empires and colossal investments in stocks and shares. All this has been gained by clever extraction in one form or another from their own followers, and for whose benefit? Well not for the membership, that's for sure.

We see these things which exist in your world, and ask ourselves how could you have let yourselves be conned in this way for many thousands of years? It comes about by not taking a full interest in every aspect of your own affairs, and turning for advice to the Dark Ones; they've given you advice, but not that which will wholly benefit you.

I bring this up today, because I'm trying to get more people to take off their blinkers. We are fast approaching a freedom train of events, which will see the restoration of the planet you call Earth, to its Divine blueprint, and just as Jesus threw the money lenders out of the temple, so the financial crooks of your world are to be amongst the many people who will be removed from your planet.

If you can begin to understand what has been done to you over millennia, then there is still hope that you may join in the Ascension process which some of your human brothers and sisters are to be going through as we reach the end of the current cycle. If only one person is beneficially affected by these words, and can help themselves out of this present pit of delusion, then this message will have been worthwhile. But, who knows, there may be more than one, maybe many more; and that will be a very good thing altogether.

Wise up my friends, there is still some time left, but not much.

And so it is.....

David S333.

This message was received telepathically and transcribed by Vince on 15th February 2010.

S333 Message – Diversions – 16th February 2010

People, whoever you are, your brain time and your minds have been stolen. There's no easier way to break it to you, and stolen is the right word.

Let me just concentrate on this current life of yours, from your date of birth, to the present day. Unlike a car, computer, and even a humble lawnmower, you didn't come with an Instruction Manual, did you? If you look through some drawers at home you won't find one, and it wasn't given to your parents either, so you're forced to rely on that piece of Divinity deep inside you, just to try and keep on the right track, and for many of you, it's a bit hit and miss, I'd say.

That piece of God which dwells within defines you as being Divine yourself, and a god in the making. True, it's going to take a very long time to realise your true spiritual potential, but you have the ability to reach to the very highest of levels. Except, when you were sitting in the bar, it didn't feel very spiritual. The same when you sat and watched a war movie, went on down to Vegas, or visited the shopping mall, it didn't feel very spiritual either, did it? And now I'll tell you why.

Your world is run by crooks, cheats and liars, who want nothing more from you than all of your money now, and your potential earnings for the rest of your lives. They've got you at every turn, for every time you spend some money, however small that may be; a portion of that goes to the elite. So they've constructed a very clever prison for you, where you feel free, and you think you live in a democracy, and you think the news is genuine; and when you vote the next government in you think you are going to get change. Well, you are, but it isn't so that you benefit, it's for the benefit of the elite.

Cheap drugs and booze, wow, that's great, isn't it? Two weeks in the Casinos in Vegas, wow, and all the steak and booze you can drink. That's freedom; that's the American way, and true of the other 'civilised' countries. You're free to do whatever you want, and when you do it, the Dark Cockroaches who operate the system, get their percentage out of it too.

Did you ever think that's why they made the facilities available to you in the first place? They are Diversions from what for many people is quite a difficult or miserable life. After a few glasses of the funny water, or a puff of the whacky baccy, it just doesn't matter, for a while anyway.

All aspects of what you know as 'Entertainment' has been designed to take your mind away from what's really going on. They're stealing your money Bub, that's what they're doing!! And you have to keep working longer hours in your job, just to keep the wolf from the door. Can you pay your bills this month, or has it got more difficult? And every time a politician says he's going to make your country better for you folks, it never gets better; the Cockroaches just get to steal even more of your money. That's why they fixed the election in the first place.

So many well intended people have been seduced by gadgets, games, movies and other forms of Diversion; that so very much of their minds are taken up thinking about things which are intellectual and mindal candy floss, with all the goodness of rotting fish. These items are very slick, and when you see famous people doing these them, boy don't you just want to go shopping for your next must-have. They are diverting you from reality, and that's a shame; and I care about that very much. You see, I'm in a place where you can't see me, but I see every one of you, and it's mostly sad; for you have become financial slaves to the manipulators of your reality.

Your world is about to go through one of the biggest and most successful changes of it's entire history, and most of you don't know about it. But I bet you know about the Winter Olympics in Canada, the Wars in Iraq & Afghanistan, and all about Global Warming, and similar. You know about them, because the elite want you to, and they are desperate for you to know. These are diversionary tactics so you don't look behind the scenes. But some things are beginning to unravel for them, and cracks are appearing in the surface.

The don't want you to find out about the reality of your origins; that you have been Created by our Illustrious Creator, and that you are not alone in this Universe, because it is teeming with life. You tend to think of your technology as being pretty sophisticated, don't you? My word it's slick!!! But by the standards of most other civilisations on a vast number of planets, it is quaint, prehistoric and downright dangerous. If your Dark Controllers were to succeed in blowing up Planet Earth, or Urantia as it is more commonly known by us, and they have certainly tried to; they wouldn't have been the first, as other planets have already been destroyed.

The time is approaching for the big clean-up to happen, when the vast amount of pollution on Urantia will be removed. Then there will be a division of the population, and some will stay there to enjoy more favourable conditions and greater spirituality, whilst the greater proportion will be moved to other similar planets, to continue developing civilisation there.

Where will you go? Do you know? Do you even care?

For now, we will leave the subject there, as there is much for you to digest, but rest assured we will return to I soon.

And so it is.....

David S333.

This is a telepathic message received and transcribed by Vince.

An S333 Message - How can I Live on Planet Earth without Money? – 17th February 2010

S333 – How can you live without money, is a very interesting question, and one I'm going to address today.

What you have to understand is that your present money based society is abnormal and not normal at all. Yes, I know it seems perfectly normal to you, but it isn't.

If I look at all the other inhabited planets in your local universe, none have a society exactly like yours. True, some went down the route of vouchers for exchange, but never developed the avaricious greed of the people who down the ages created and ran you reality.

Now if you grow some tomatoes, and want to exchange them for some potatoes which someone else grew, if the two of you agree how many of each are an equivalence; then providing neither crop is rotten or foul tasting, you've got two happy parties.

On a massive scale today, sometimes a large amount of capital equipment is exchanged for a large amount of produce or raw materials, because a country is too poor to afford the money, and doesn't want to be tied into a loan. But mostly deals are done using money, which was once backed with precious metals like gold, but now are only figures on computer screens. This money is known as 'fiat' money, and in reality has no value.

You see, your global crooks who run the system stole the precious metals, and anything else they could lay their hands on. If you get your credit card out and buy something with it; that creates credit, which is a figure on a computer screen, and the crooks can make a shed load of money out of that, by lending a similar amount of credit elsewhere, so they keep getting a percentage at every turn. It is rather more complex than that across the international financial system, but I don't want to get bogged down in the detail.

Your pay check is another form of this credit, which is given and weighed against the service you provide to your employer, and you use this credit to buy groceries, housing, entertainments, clothing and so forth. Once again the crooks make percentages on all of the transactions involved, and they become money rich at the expense of ordinary people who are the majority.

Life without money is much simpler, in that you take out of the community pot of value, only that which you need to be able to live comfortably, and put into the value pot that which you are able to. Does that sound like Communism to all you Capitalists out there? Well, it would be like Communism if it wasn't for one important factor. What's that, I hear you ask? Spirituality; is my reply.

Now, you mustn't confuse Spirituality with Religion, as it is structured on Earth today. Your religions were long ago infiltrated by the Dark Crooks, and are little more than machines for collecting your money, and keeping you in order. True Spirituality is gained whether or not you are of a religion, and can be gained in many ways, not least of which are unselfish service to humanity, and operating within the boundaries of Divine Law.

You see, if everyone was up to a certain level of Spirituality, then you wouldn't need money, and your society would be happy and content, and there would be no war and conflict. But as things are now, the Crooks have wars because they make a lot of money from them. They have a saying that the most money is made when the streets run with blood! That's just not nice, is it? Just imagine what they made out of World War 2, for example; after all, they financed all the different sides in the conflict.

At the moment most of you are trapped in a cage, but it's invisible to you, and it feels 'normal'. But it isn't right and it isn't there permanently, for energies on Earth are changing rapidly. Soon there will be a major choice; to stay on Earth, or go to another planet. Doesn't that sound abnormal; crazy even?

The choices are; to become more Spiritual and stay aboard an upgraded Earth, with a society based on spiritual principles; or stay as you are and go to another planet where there will be a society with lesser spirituality than will be required to stay on Earth. It isn't because I say so, but there is a Divine Decree in being which is to restore Earth (Urantia as it is known throughout your universe) to its blueprint and clear out the pollution, and those beings who don't reach the required level of Spirituality.

Now, for those of you who don't come up to that level, there is nothing wrong with these other planets; it's just that you won't be able to stay where you are. This isn't the first time that planets have been stocked with beings from other planets, and your Earth was populated this way in the first place.

After this event has taken place, what you think of as money will have no place on Earth, and a more equitable method of exchange of values where these are still appropriate, will be introduced. Then living without money will be possible.

And so it is.....

S333

This is a telepathic message received from S333, and transcribed by Vince.

Important Note: It is not my intention, nor that of the transcriber, to discuss or reveal the names of the Dark Crooks and their cohorts who run the system on Earth. They know who they are very well indeed, and our sole aim is to present to you certain facts as an overview, so that you may investigate this further if you wish to. There is no better method than personal experience for leaning the truth. S333

A Special Message to the Dark Ones – through Vince – 17th February

S333 – My name is David and I am of the Light.

I come from a place you cannot see; my work is the supervision of Earth matters, amongst other things.

You and I, we are Brothers, yet you worship the Darkness. That hurts you, and it hurts me to watch.

Why is it you do these things of Darkness and Evil. Is it because you are afraid of what the other Dark Ones will do to you if you don't do what they say; or do you just enjoy hurting other people?

If you are afraid, then that's understandable, but if it's out of enjoyment and Evil, how would you like that done to you? It may have been done to you in the past, but that it is no reason to hurt other people; for that is contrary to Divine Law. All transgressions of Divine Law must be paid for, so you are building up trouble for yourself in the future, either in this life or another.

Are you one of those caught up in the system and are a fixer for the Darkness; maybe a banker, a soldier, a reporter, a drug trafficker a bent lawyer, tax inspector, politician or cop? Do you really want to be doing what you have to do, or would you rather be free of it?

You are perhaps earning a lot of money for what you do, and your whole living depends on it. If you tell what you know, they will reveal the secret which you have, and then what; divorce, prison, execution? Those penalties are very severe, but there are worse than that.

We live a series of incarnations over a long time, and if we transgress Divine Law, we pay for that in our subsequent incarnations, and that can be even more severe. Known instances are of a former Pope reincarnated as a labourer in rural China, a man who tortured bears for 'entertainment' reincarnated as a tortured bear, a rapist reincarnated as a person repeatedly raped. How would you pay, based on what you have done to innocent humans and animals? Doesn't bear thinking about, does it? You may get financially ruined and foreclosure on your house; charged and convicted for a crime you didn't commit; there are lots and lots of options.

Of course you could go to a priest, and confess your sins, and be forgiven. Don't you believe that old chestnut, and the truth doesn't dawn on you until you've left this life, and are at a Reincarnation Board hearing (I kid you not!). Someone might say you're forgiven, but you will still have to work off the karmic debt, and you can't steal more money and pay karma off, it doesn't work like that.

So what are you going to do then? Give up the crookedness, or carry on and build up more karmic debt?

Pretty soon you are going to have to choose whether to continue, or give it up; so I'm going to make a suggestion to you. Print this message off, and give a copy to everyone else you know who is also a crook for the Dark Ones. Then you can decide how many of you want to 'come out'. It will be just like happened with Gays in past decades where they 'came out' before they were 'outed' by someone else. It's always good to take the initiative in these matters, because once you cease the crooked activity, you no longer work for the Darkness.

You then have the ability to use all of your skills to work for the Light. At that point, you begin to work off your adverse karma, and it's a very good idea to start that as soon as possible; there's no point leaving it until next time, as it will be much worse by then. I've seen the disappointed people coming out of their Reincarnation Board, and they aren't happy bunnies. It makes me so very sad that they didn't work for us of the Light much sooner.

If a whole group of you come out, then you can stop this madness from going any further, and if you are in sufficient numbers, who is going to care what your little secret is, even if the dark was able to expose everybody. There could be such sheer volume that nobody's interested any more. Who cares about Gays any more? Once it was a seriously awful thing to be and it had to be kept quiet, but not any more; that's how times change.

So, it's over to you now; think on my words, and don't leave it too long before you start to save yourself. It's never too soon to start.

And so it is.....

S333

This is a telepathic message received and transcribed by Vince.

S333 – Heroes and Zeros from the Dark Ones through Vince – 18th February 2010

Hello People of Earth,

I use the term 'Earth' because that is what you call your planet, although other names are used by the multitudinous life throughout your universe; two of these are Urantia and Gaia.

Well things are changing fast, and there is blind panic spreading amongst the Dark Ones who used to control your world. Did you notice that, I said USED to control your world? Do I mean they don't control it any more?

Have you ever tried to catch a spinning football on a wet and muddy pitch? It's very difficult and the faster the ball travels, the harder it is to catch, and only the most gifted of footballers can catch it. So too, with the Dark Ones; as their grasp of their project has suddenly become much more difficult than at any time previously, and it is just teetering around the tipping point.

These last few days there have been stories in the media about UFO's and covert operations, which have sort of crept out through the crack in their veneer. Down amongst the lower ranks of the Dark Ones, a sort of deep and unsettling fear has begun to consume their waking hours, as they begin to see that they are going to have to face up to the rest of the population, and confess their crimes.

If they don't get out there first, and admit to what they have been doing for all these years, when their project implodes on them they are going to get pelted with rotten fruit; an Old English preference, and worse. By coming out first and spilling the beans, they effectively become Heroes, for announcing these disclosures in their neck of the woods. Better to be a Hero, than a Zero.

There are so many areas in life where these people have been forced into working; so there's plenty of scope for being a Hero. The last remaining uncorrupted members of your Judiciary across the planet, should actively seek out these potential Heroes, and cut them a Free-From Prosecution deal, to help get the information out, and give these unfortunates a chance of some security for what they are about to do.

Many of these people have committed fairly minor crimes in the first place, and been blackmailed ever since by their Dark Controllers. It's very often theft of various types, certain sexual practices and other wrongdoings, and most of these are relatively low level and no bar to the Judiciary giving them immunity from prosecution, in order to trade for their valuable information. I even go so far as to say that capital crimes like murder should also be considered for immunity as well, for in the cases where they have been ordered to assassinate another person because of this blackmail; the information and knowledge gained far outweighs the crime.

But, I hear you ask, isn't this immoral? In the normal course of events, murderers should be prosecuted for their crimes, but if by being given a deal, we can help shake the bigwig Dark Ones out of the tree, then that far outweighs the offence. You should also remember that if a crime has been committed against Divine Law, nobody can hide from that, and every such offence attracts negative karma which has to be worked of at a future time in this life or the next. By 'coming out' and accepting an Immunity from Prosecution deal, that is the first step for the individual to start working for the forces of Light, which will be balanced against the crimes at their next Reincarnation Board interview.

We must always remember that these people are the Sons of God, just like the rest of you, and they have become wayward; so we must welcome them back into our midst, and thank them for being so brave as to 'come out'. For if they didn't all of your lives would continue to be affected by the Dark Madness for much longer.

Let's treat them like wounded soldiers returning from battle and cheer them home, for they will have turned to God and the Light for guidance, and be commencing on a remedial path.

Can you find it in your hearts to help them?

And so it is.....

S333 – A Message to Senior Politicians, their Administrators & Fixers the World Over.

Channelled through Vince – 19th February 2010

Greetings my Dear Dark Ones.

Today I wish to address the Politicians, their Administrators and Fixers. You know don't you, that most of the Presidents, Prime Ministers, Chancellors and suchlike, are selected by the Dark Controllers long before they ever get to those heady heights.

They either come from well known family circles, or are selected at college, university or similar. Many of them have dirty little secrets in their past, and the Dark Controllers knew this, cultivated them and blackmailed them. Yet others come from Dark families who, in a Spiritual sense are 'rotten to the core' and are involved in many most unsavoury matters.

These, are the people who become the Head of State, Prime Minister, Chancellor and suchlike, and mostly they too are rotten to the core; and because they are shoehorned into power through rigged elections, they aren't their own men. They have to do what they are told, by the Dark Ones who run the world. But you know this don't you?

You wanted to be a Great Officer of the State, or Senior Civil Servant, or a Political Fixer; didn't you? You were attracted by the power and the adulation; but as you know, 'politics and statecraft' is a dirty business; very dirty indeed. So to travel along your particular path, you had to do some things that weren't strictly honest; well, downright illegal in some cases. But they patted you on the back, and welcomed you into their club, and didn't it feel good?

Then you realised you were in a bit of a bind; you couldn't get out of it even if you wanted to, as the Dark Ones knew too much about your secrets. It crossed your mind that you were stuck, but at that stage you didn't want to leave the 'club', as it still fed your ego. Then more recently, you had some nagging doubts in the deepest recesses of your mind, didn't you?

You never set out to contravene Divine Law, in fact you probably didn't even know it existed; but deep down you knew what you had to do wasn't really honest, and it led to a lot of lying, and overseeing some very dark and dirty deeds. And, you didn't realise you were going to have to pay for that, did you?

Make no mistake, what you did was wrong, and you WILL pay for it. Did you ever hear of the Day of Judgment; that event where a wrathful God sends you down to Hell? You could always go and see a religious minister, or priest; and confess, couldn't you; that would be OK, wouldn't it?

Oh dear, it doesn't work like that; let me explain, and pay particular attention, your future depends on it.

God is not wrathful, God is Love & Light. Deep down inside you there's a piece of God, and we are all Brothers and Sisters. But, you chose to walk upon a path of Darkness, instead of one of light. In so doing, you have broken Divine Law and no priest can forgive that. You have to work off that negative karma in the future; in this and other lives. Please believe me when I say that it isn't pleasant.

The Day of Judgment is your interview at the Reincarnation Board, and that's where you'll find that every single moment of this life is recorded and available for playback; and all the others as well. Everything you deny doing is self evident, then when you can deny these crimes no longer, you will be allocated your next incarnation which will be full of learning opportunities for you, but you need not expect them to be pleasant.

Now, I want to present an opportunity to you, which I hope you'll be quick to grasp. As a senior person, but not the supreme in the organisation, you know things about the principal, and what they have done, and continue to do. Time I think to turn your back on them and spill their can of beans.

Obviously you are going to have to reveal what you have done, but if you take the path of Love and Light and shun the Dark Ones, you have by that very action started your own rehabilitation. God loves you, as you are one of His children, and what parent doesn't love their child. In a Spiritual sense, you will be treated as a wayward son coming home to a safe harbour. You will still have to work off the karma, but the sooner you turn to the Light, the sooner you change for the better. You do see that, don't you?

Now there are only so many people in each administration where you are, and how many of them will desert ship? You see, it will be the earlier ones who desert that get the best terms. If a rival Minister, Secretary of State, or Department Head gets their story out first and negotiates the best terms, the later ones will be also-rans

You should really be taking legal advice and negotiating an 'Immunity from Prosecution' package, according to the laws of your country, on the basis of the information and evidence you provide against your principal. You may also be able to obtain places in a Witness Protection Scheme for you and your family, and be able to start a new life again. If you do, rest assured that the Spiritual Hierarchy welcomes your brave decision, and will do all possible, in an unseen way, to smooth your passage through the system.

You have to help us stop this madness on Planet Earth, as the Dark Ones very nearly ruined it, and I am part of a very senior team engaged in turning the Darkness into Light.

And so it is.....

S333.

S333 – Immunity from Prosecution & Coming Out – channelled by Vince - 22nd February 2010

Vince – I wanted to get some clarification about the position of people who are considering spilling the beans on the Dark and Corrupt Ones.

You have given out three messages, each to a different level of people, encouraging them to change sides to the Light and spill the beans; get an immunity deal and possibly be included in a witness protection scheme. Yet you haven't given any details of how people should 'come-out'; and frankly, I'm surprised about that. Can you elaborate on the situation, please?

David – I will make this as short as possible.

Every country is in a different position, with some being similar and others quite different entirely, and the three defection messages were issued to get the ball rolling. We know only too well that this will require a lot of thinking about by any individuals who want to defect, for there are as you would say, 'shed loads' of issues to consider, many of them relating to life and death, as there are no shortage of assassins around.

I'm not going to say a lot at this stage, and neither will I give out dates or the details, as we have to maintain the initiative here at this time. There are Interpol officers in various parts of the world, and we have many allies on the ground in key positions, just waiting for the go-ahead. Then it will become very clear to certain individuals as to which way they are able to move forward. By and large these 'coming out' events will not be reported in the media, and so the general public will be totally unaware what's going on.

There will be Truth Commissions, Judicial Hearings, and Witness Protection Schemes set up, but they will take different forms in many countries. Be aware that these authorities do and will exist by divine decree, and when the individual has that behind them they will be safe. That is to say, and let me be quite specific here; as well as removal to a different country, or even a different planet, by crossing the line and accepting a deal from us, that person and their family will be removed to a place of safety, beyond where the Darkness can find them,

Once a person has truly decided to 'jump ship' then they should project that thought so that it will be picked up by those members of the Light assigned to that task. We will arrange for our contacts to be in touch with them in a quiet, covert way with the minimum of fuss.

The Darkness will not be aware of this and will not be able to harm the people concerned. As to the dates of Stasis and these major Disclosure events, they happen when they happen, anything more concrete is disinformation, and we have no intention of handing out information to our opponents

And so it is.....

S333 – Love Is – channelled by Vince – 22nd February 2010

Vince – Good morning David, or whatever it is where you are. You said that you wanted to write a piece; are you ready to start?

S333 – I wanted to write a piece about Love, which for many people is an unknown and misunderstood capacity. You'll find it a much nicer thing to be doing, than 'Outing the Darkness'.

Vince – OK then, ready when you are.

S333 – Love is everything, and yet it can be nothing, for is just IS.

Love is what Creation is all about. It is the reason for the Creation in the first place, and it is what fuels every nook and corner of Creation.

Now, rather than get into the nuts and bolts of whatever the whole of, or your part of Creation, is and how it works, I am focussing on Love itself. It matters not whether you have a technical understanding of various dimensions and the various levels of being within the vastness of Creation. What matters is Love, and finding that small piece of the Creator within you.

How can you forgive another person who has carried out an unpleasant attack on you? How can you not?

Love is not an emotion, for it is more than just that, it is the very essence of the Creator, and it drives everything, and is both of the Light, and Creates the Light.

That small child which exists deep within everyone, will always hope for good and kind treatment, if their human presence gets into trouble, even though they maybe transgressing the law. How many times in their most bleak and hopeless of moments, have those souls who are unbelievers, reached rock bottom and said; "Please Help Me God"?

Deep down, you know who you are. You know you're a God in the making; even if your present path in life is at odds with that eventuality. God, Prime Creator; call Him what you will, is indeed your father/mother and created you, and you are a piece of Him/Her. So in the final analysis, when the chips are down, it's perfectly natural for the most dark of souls to say; "Mum/Dad, please help me", and you know what, your plea is always heard.

God loves you and you are a child of His. You may have drifted onto the wrong path and be desperate to get back to the right one; or be perfectly happy with the wrong path; but God still loves you. Do you have a pet? Maybe it's a dog, a cat or a rabbit? Either way, that animal loves you UNCONDITIONALLY; how wonderful is that? Even with people who mistreat their pets, those pets still love their keepers unconditionally. It's the DEFAULT condition.

Unconditional Love is the Default, the norm, normal, natural, not un-natural, and perfect. God loves you; every being of Light in the vastness of Creation loves each and every one of you, and yet not everyone on Planet Earth does. Many of you have lost your way, and been encouraged to believe that it's the money that matters; the Money and the Power.

Those of you on that path, hate many of your fellow humans, and go to extraordinary lengths to rob them blind and torture and maim them by a whole variety of means. And do you know what? God still loves you. That doesn't mean that you have Divine approval for your activities, but when you ask God for help, it will be given, and not necessarily in the way you may expect. Transgressions of Divine Law must still be paid for in the future, but you are still loved unconditionally.

How many of you are walking a much more moral path, and you love a person for what they are, but when that changes, you no longer love them? Equally, there are those of you who love another unconditionally, but don't even like them; for Like is different to Love.

Love is giving; being kind; doing unto another something in the way that you would wish to be treated yourself; giving love and sustenance to a person who detests you. Just like that pet of yours who loves you unconditionally, even when they are mistreated.

If you can find inside yourself, the power to give out unconditional love to everyone you come into contact with every day, then your world is going to become a so much better place. Then there are the situations you see on your TV News; just send out your love to those who are sick or in difficulty, that will help them immensely in many unseen ways.

To those of you who are already familiar with Unconditional Love; the gift of our Creator, I ask you to join with me.

Call me David if you wish, and link to me in thought. When you project your thoughts for the healing of certain situations known to you, link with me and let us all send our joint unconditional love. I am of God, but I am not God; and so you should also continue with your personal relationship with the Creator, but I am also here to serve you when the need arises.

And so it is.....

David S333.

This is a telepathic message received and transcribed by Vince.

A Final Note from David

There will be people reading this who do not believe in God; do not believe in telepathy or channelling; & do not understand that the greater part of existence is invisible to you. If only I could show you the wonders of it all, you would be so pleasantly surprised by the beauty and logic of Creation and the Divine Laws.

The problem is, that in order to take the first step on a path to understanding these things, a truly open mind is required; and many people who think they've got an open mind, have been so conditioned by those who control the material aspects of your world, that there is a bias in one direction or another, rather than the neutrality of a truly open mind.

It can take many decades to unravel that conditioning and start again to build a solid wall of understanding, backed by hard evidential proof, to get to the base level required to start training to be able channel members of the Spiritual Hierarchy, or even your own Spirit Guides who exist at a lower level.

And yet, there are people born into your world today, who come with no bias one way or another, they are spiritually developed to the extent that the training for them would be much shorter. But first, they would have to decide of their own free-will that this is something they wanted to do, for there is never any compulsion.

S333 – A 'Dark Ones' Update – 22nd February 2010.

This is aimed at the Dark Ones, and in particular, those who work for them, and who feel trapped and can't get out.

If you are thinking of jumping ship, let me explain to you some of the things that break Divine Law, which you may have been involved in. This is not an exhaustive list, as Divine Law is extensive and even applies to things and concepts which are not currently present in your lives.

Any form of theft including corporate fraud, theft of property, money and other resources is a definite no-go area. If it doesn't belong to you, your company or government, leave it alone. Many so-called takeover bids for companies fit into this category, as they are strictly immoral, break Divine Law, even if they are technically in line with your statutes. Cheating people out of money and property is a particularly nasty crime, and especially so when, like lambs to the slaughter, the unwary are sold mortgages and insurance they have no hope of paying.

Money lending is another area, from loan-sharking through hire-purchase agreements to unacceptably high credit card interest rates; all these are fertile areas for you to break Divine Law. And as I've said before, it's going to cost you big time in the long run. You are NOT going to get away with it, please understand that!!

Drug growing, smuggling and dealing are big transgressions, even if they are run by CIA & MI6 'official' distribution channels. This is just as awful, and if the faceless men in suits who run these outfits think they'll get away with it, they won't. You see, if we leave your own country's law enforcement and judiciary out of the equation, one day, you're going to die.

Everybody does it; you all get born, and you all die. And then most people think; that's it you are dead, nothing! Well I am of the Spiritual Hierarchy, and I know different. When you die your body decomposes, but you don't. Your mind/soul complex (for those with souls), continues for ever, and when your review of your most recent life takes place; and it WILL, you are going to find out that what you've done was wrong, and in the next and subsequent lives, your expectations for a happy time will have to be downgraded significantly.

We are going to have a clean and revitalised new planet, and there is no place for those who steal from others and worse. Anyone who pays or arranges for the assassination or murder of another is as guilty as the assassin. Rapists, paedophiles and torturers, they too are in the wrong.

There are those in the Military and their contractors who are involved in some deeply distasteful activities, some of them so dark that they happen underground, and then there are the Child Abductors who feed this horrific activity, and you know who you are.

There are those who are scientists, doctors and engineers, who spend all of their time trying to find new ways of killing, maiming and making humanity sick, not to mention the people who plan and pay for these activities to be developed. Then there are those whose idea of democracy is to tax the people into submission, and fix their elections so that your candidate gets elected; it isn't moral, it isn't of the Light; but it does contravene Divine Law.

Then there are those who rape the planet for every last ounce of hydrocarbons and materials, to make the maximum amount of your worthless paper money, which the so-called Global Elite kept printing after they stole all of the real wealth. Were you one of those who helped them do it?

The subjugation of a nation and its people, by those who rig the Government and the Establishment, requires operatives to carry out the orders, and others who just look the other way. Is that what you've done? And then we turn to Religion, another tool of the Elite to subjugate the people, and rob them of their resources, based on false doctrines. Popes and Archbishops are subject to Divine Laws as well, and they are NOT the true voice of God on Earth. Many very wicked deeds are carried out by members of religions across the world, and we know what they are, and who did them. And as for suicide bombers being welcomed into Heaven for ending the lives of some and maiming others; I am here to tell you that their welcome is immediate reincarnation into a very dark and musky place, so that they may ponder upon their vile deeds.

Perhaps you don't believe me about reincarnation and having to pay for your misdeeds? That's your problem Bub!!

But if I were you, I wouldn't want to leave it until your present life ends, as that may happen much sooner than you think. When you allow yourself to think about what I've said, ask yourself if you want to get out of what you're doing? If that small voice within you says 'yes', then the sooner you turn to those of the Light to help you get out of there, the sooner you stop creating negative karma; and that's the first foot on the ladder to your rehabilitation.

And so it is.....

This is a telepathic message from S333 of the Spiritual Hierarchy, received and transcribed by Vince.

S333 – White Bread – A Dark Scam – Through Vince – 23rd February 2010.

This message is to the Population of most 'Westernised' countries who have food, as distinct from what you call '3rd World' countries who do not. We want you to know how the Dark Ones adulterate your food.

The system set up by the Elite Dark Ones is that every Western country shall have a plentiful supply of food, because they can earn more of their paper money on each transaction up the food chain. But the reality for many people in the Western countries is that they can't afford it. In some cases imported foodstuffs and ingredients are sourced in Third World countries and bought for very low sums, as the Elite make sure that the forward commodity prices benefit them and not the producer countries.

Many of these foodstuffs are processed and made into products which are everyday items in most homes. But between the original grower and you the consumer, something bad happened. Let's take bread as an example; it used to be made with whole grain wheat, which was ground slowly between two millstones, thus preserving all of the goodness in the flour. During the 19th Century someone dreamed up the idea of mass producing white bread, which had only ever been a preserve of the rich.

A roller-milling machine was developed which separated the wheat-germ and bran from the remaining flour, which had an off-white colour. Now they were in business; so what they did was use bleach on the flour, and it turned pure white. Then they sold off the bran and the wheat-germ as food ingredients and health food products. Thus a single revenue earning grain was turned into 3 revenue earning products. Because the roller mills ran faster than the millstones, the heat generated destroyed some of the goodness, but faster production meant richer millers.

So, they came up with a seriously nutrition reduced white flour and wheat-germ and bran. The bran often gets added into 'high fibre' products which you need to assist with digestive transit, because the white bread you eat doesn't have any bran in. Then when you rub that skin cream into your face, is it the one 'enriched' with wheat-germ oil? If you'd used whole-grain, in the first place, maybe you wouldn't have needed wheat-germ oil in the cream. Ordinary brown and granary flours are dyed, often using malt, a by-product of the brewing industry.

What was it that ABBA sung? Money, Money, Money? This kind of scam goes on throughout the food production industry, and they strip out additional value, put back in a load of stuff you may wish to call 'Junk' and then make themselves rich; at the same time, and at the expense of your health. The Imperial Roman Army marched throughout Europe on a bread based diet, but they wouldn't have got very far on much of the modern product.

And do you know, the tragedy is that most of you think eating white bread is 'normal' because successive generations have been conned into believing this. So, what should you think of a Global Elite who want to weaken and poison you; for make no mistake, this kind of scam is prevalent in ALL areas of food production, and some of that 'Junk' put back in to hold the denatured ingredients together are poisons and irritants that can make you ill. Not only do the elite not care, in many cases this is a DELIBERATE policy, designed to help in the reduction of the world population. (White rice isn't normal either, only the wholegrain brown rice is.)

These people know who they are, and more importantly so do we, for when the time is right they are going to pay for their crimes against humanity.

And so it is.....

This is a telepathically transmitted message from S333 of the Spiritual Hierarchy, received and transcribed by Vince.

S333 – A Message to Lightworkers the World Over – 23rd February 2010.

On British Television News today there was a report of a car bomb being set-off in Newry, Northern Ireland.

Take heed of this if you will, for it serves as an indicator as to how the Light v Dark battle is going.

Since the 1960's there have been all kinds of civil strife including bombings, shootings and knifings, in Northern Ireland and in Mainland Britain. After decades of strife the community had finally settled down to live with each other and obtain a degree of political power sharing. Although the troubles have their roots in two different varieties of Christians; the Roman Catholics and the Protestants, it was used by the Dark Ones to keep people in Fear.

After getting normal schools and shopping centres; and other aspects of what normal life is, the population was expecting to build on the peace agreement and never go back to the days of their civil war. They reckoned without the Dark Ones though.

Whenever the Dark Ruling Elite get rattled, they arrange destructive events, which they know press & TV will relay around the world, as they want to instil yet more fear in the population. Indeed, leaving aside the poor people affected by these events, they are an indication of how the Dark Ones are losing control of their empire, and so they go about murder again.

What about where you live in the world? Are there indications in your country or region of escalation of similar events? If so, you may take it that the Darkness is finding it ever harder to go about their dastardly business, and that is the time to push ever harder at their door and expose them for what they are; EVIL.

As the process of Ascension of your planet and some of your people takes place, and there are signs from around the world that this process is happening little by little, there is no time or place on your beautiful blue/green planet for Spiritual Dinosaurs whose only pleasure and aim is their personal enrichment, and the downfall of you and your planet.

But, throughout Creation, the blue/green planet is the Jewel in the Crown, and we of the Spiritual Hierarchy have no intention of letting these Dark Miscreants win. Indeed, there is a Divine decree that what you call Earth, and we call Urantia, is to be restored to her full glory at an ever higher dimension, and these dangerous fools WILL be removed elsewhere, in a climate of destruction and fear, such as that they have created for a long while, and see how they like it. Then when they cry for their Mommy's, they will have the opportunity of climbing back out of their pit of despair, and of following the right path this time.

If you were to meet these people, on the outside they look like regular people, but that's where the similarity ends, as they are responsible for vile deeds, and it is really difficult to grasp at first, why they are such idiots. They could afford good educations with all the money they've stolen from you, so perhaps Harvard and Oxford aren't such fine places to learn after all. Spiritual education was obviously sadly lacking, and so when the changes come, we are going to take a serious look at these and similar institutions, and everyone in them, and pull them to pieces and fully see how they work, before we convey them to the fire-pit.

Keep up the good work my fine Lightworkers, wherever you are on Earth, and know that you are making a real difference at this time, for which you will be fully rewarded, when the time is right.

And so it is.....

This is a telepathic message from David S333, of the Spiritual Hierarchy, received and transcribed by Vince on 23rd February 2010.

S333 – The Military & Your Tax Dollars, Pounds & Euros – 24th February 2010

Have you ever heard about a military project costing more than originally quoted? Some projects overrun to 3, 4 or many more times than the original estimate and the budgeted amount. Then some lame government spokesman goes on TV, but only if he HAS to, and explains the cost overruns away by technical difficulties, or some other excuse. Now, when new concepts are being developed, costing the outcome is a difficult business, and so you may expect a certain amount of cost escalation.

But let me explain what happens, from an overview of our perspective. As an individual taxpayer, you are a money train unit, and expected to have deep pockets; boy, are you going to need them! The Military, Industrial, Political and Government Administration areas of most industrialised countries in the world, are a nice cosy club. So, the military decide they want some new equipment, the admin and tied politicians are told, and the admins invite tenders from the industrials.

Good you may think, what's Dark about that? Ah, that's just the surface veneer! No two cases are identical, but very often the military know whose equipment they want to buy, so that's fixed from the start; they also know what they want that equipment to do, and that's fixed from the start. Some of the politicians may know a little about the specification, for their Dark Elite handlers will have told them just enough. The admins know it's a fixed deal, and as the fixed industrial company has the lowest tender price (surprise, surprise) the admins/politicos award them the contract.

Some of these contracts drag on for years, so it's no surprise when the media announce that a certain missile contract will cost 8 times more than the tendered price 10 years ago. That's when the politicians come into their own and lie through their teeth to the legislature and the media. Everyone knew it could never be done at the tendered price; the specification left some of the detail out. But more importantly they knew that however much it cost, YOU the taxpayer were going to pay.

Why do you think your country is packed with immigrants from poorer countries? Perhaps it's about giving them a chance to earn money? What, at the expense of your own workers jobs? All right then, it's so we have a multi-cultural society. Pull the other leg! Is it Cheap Labour then? (SEE NOTE BELOW*)

OK, cheap labour is a by-product of the main reason, which is; the more people there are, the more tax they pay. Even with those who don't pay income tax for whatever reason, they all have to purchase things to live, so on many of them there is one form of tax or another. Tax, Tax, Tax; it's there at every turn, and your rulers of the Dark Elite milk it for all it's worth.

Those rockets used to murder innocent civilians in the various conflicts going on in the world, have been paid for by you. Not only that; but everybody in the procurement chain had their percentage directly or indirectly. Once the Taliban are exterminated, the drug crops in Afghanistan will be fully owned by the West, and the end product will end up in bodies in your street. Cut the Taliban out; and production and profits get upscaled, and your environment gets downscaled.

The Dark Ones only care about how much money they can extort from you, and how they can tread your face into the mud as they run to the paying-in desk at their banks.

And so it is.....

This is a telepathic message from David S333 of the Spiritual Hierarchy, received and transposed by Vince on 24th February 2010.

 NOTE: Many decent, hard working people migrate to other countries where they live, work and pay taxes. This message was not intended to attack them, but to point out how the Dark Elite starve their home countries of investment to keep them poor, forcing them to migrate to richer countries, where they are often exploited as cheap labour.

S333 – The Food that You Eat – Animals – 25th February 2010.

Today I wanted to talk about the food you eat, and which some of you don't eat.

That is; most of you eat pieces of dead animal and other extracts as well; whereas a minority on your planet don't, and these people are Vegans, Fruitarians; and Vegetarians don't eat animal flesh.

The Dark Ones have an agenda with animal flesh and products, and they find ways to subsidise these products, so they are relatively cheap at the point of sale. They make vast amounts of their worthless paper money from animals, which are raised on grass and grain crops and, oh yes, ground up animal matter.

You knew there was going to be something disgusting in there, didn't you? When the Dark Elite are involved, there's a lot of blood, gore and filth around. Animals are a dream crop for them, as there are so many ways of extracting by-products, and if you've read some of my earlier messages, then you'll know that these clever fools make money on every turn of a product from start to finish in the product cycle.

When Earth was set up for humanity, the animals agreed to be a food crop for mankind, until Man had developed sufficiently to produce food from vegetation of many kinds. This is not an unusual method, and it was expected as Man climbed up the ladder of spiritual awakening, he would gradually wean himself off animal based food, and switch to plant based food completely.

But where the Dark Ones are concerned, spirituality doesn't come into the equation, as they aren't spiritual, and I guess you would understand what I am saying if I referred to them as evil? It's the Money & Power thing with them again. It has gotten so bad that it is now routine for animals to be tortured and mistreated throughout their lives by people who only care for Money & Power; and this is from the top ranking people right down to the individual farmers and fishermen.

Every animal on your planet is a living, breathing, feeling and understanding being and is no different from you, just at a slightly different stage of evolution, and they feel pain and suffering, just like you do. So when the chef cooks your Lobster by throwing it alive into a pot of boiling water, how would you like to be scalded to death? Have you had any Foie Gras recently, which is duck liver pate produced by force feeding ducks with corn using a machine; now how sick is that? And you beef, pork, lamb, fish and fowl consumers shouldn't be so smug, as the methods are just as bad with them

Do unto others as you would have done unto you; did you ever hear that before? Well, your dirty little habits on Earth with the maiming and torture of animals, is going to buy an awful lot of people an awful lot of adverse karma. So what, I hear some of you say? Well, that means some of you are going to experience torture at first hand in some future life, and anticipating your next statement, I say that it doesn't matter if you don't believe in reincarnation, life after death, or even God. Like the people who thought the Earth was flat, you'll find out the truth of it after you have 'died' and you are NOT going to like it, trust me.

There are enough alternative foodstuffs around for most of you to first cut down on animal based food, and eventually give it up completely. In terms of global resources, meat and animal derivatives as a method of feeding humans, is a luxury you can no longer afford. It gobbles up vast resources and you could feed many more people if they didn't consume animal based foods.

Sometime quite soon your Earth is going to be cleansed, restored to its original conception and ascend from the 3rd dimension to the 5th and that means the minority of you who are going to be permitted to stay, and not move to other planets like the majority; will not be eating foods containing any form of animal parts or derivatives thereof. It would be very much in the interests of pre-ascension humanity, if you would consider weaning yourself off animal based foods prior to the onset of stasis, as it will make the aftermath so much easier for you.

And so it is.....

This is a telepathic message from David S333, of the Spiritual Hierarchy, received and transcribed by Vince, 25th February 2010.

S333 - Time Poverty – 26th February 2010

How many occasions have there been, when you have said or thought; "If I only had time"?

I would say for most of you living a typical 'Western' lifestyle that would be thought or said very frequently.

But you know, time is an illusion; now is then, and then is now. Time as you measure it, is the number of rotations the Earth makes so that you have the light and dark effect of sunrise and sunset each day. This is linear time and it is a measurement, but no more than that.

This measurement is convenient to the Dark Elite who run your lives, because in a sense they own the time. God gave Earth and all of its resources to you to look after, and the Dark Elite took it away from you. Now, I know it is not easy for the average human to grasp the fact that the Past, Present & Future are all the same thing. Pardon? They are all the same thing!

You will say that as you were born in 19 whatever and it is now 2010, you are 'X' years old, and that's time. I will say that you are in a 3rd Dimensional environment, and have been on your planet in a physical body for a given number of sets of 365/ 366 of your planetary rotations, and your body ages with each passing rotation, but time doesn't really exist in the linear sense.

The only sense in which we could say that there is a kind of time is 'when the time is right'. Ascension of Planet Earth (Urantia); will happen when the time is right, and not before; but you dear human, will then ask 'when is that'; in how many rotations of the planet that will occur in. It is true that there are key dates when energy changes and related issues will take place, but these are part of a complicated (for you) set of conditions associated with the positioning of a large number of planets relative to Earth; and it isn't actually time. I am trying to keep this simple so that more people can understand this matter.

Ever since the clock was invented, it has enabled people to be aware of their relationship to Earth's rotation, which helped them regulate their daily activities to a regular daily pattern, if they wished to. But for a long period, many places in the same country at the same longitude didn't keep exactly the same 'time' measurement, and it took the Industrial Revolution to bring 'time' co-ordination into being.

And, that my dear friends, was when you really became time poor and slaves to the Dark Elite money controllers. It applies to the English Cotton Mill workers in that country where and when the Industrial Revolution started, and to the many industrial factories in modern day China and other countries in your world. It's Economic Slavery.

Having stolen all the real wealth, the Dark Elite issued worthless paper money, which is no longer backed by gold or other precious metals or minerals, and is now just numbers on computer screens, cash tills, pay checks and credit card statements. It is a form of exchange, but has no real value. And because these people control the supply of this paper, you have to earn it or steal it to get enough to buy food and housing, and all those things essential to your life.

So you have to spend 8, 10 or 12 hours in a workplace of some kind, doing something many of you would rather not be doing. At a job interview many years ago, a man was asked by the boss of the adhesive products company; "Can you give your life to Glue!" Being an independent kind of person, he decided he couldn't, but how many of you have to do things against your will, just to get this paper money? Do you really want to spend 12 hours driving the same vehicle around the same city streets, and doing rotating shifts? In this and other jobs, I know that many of you don't

Life on Earth was never meant to be that way. You were never meant to be time-poor economic slaves to a system created by the Dark Elite, for the Dark Elite and their followers. They run the system, they get the benefit; and it has therefore come to pass that much of mankind has to sacrifice their Spirituality upon the Altar of the Paper Money, and chain themselves to a desk, workbench or vehicle.

Next time your tax goes up, your heating bills increase, your food and housing get ever more expensive, remember who it is you are working for; it's the Dark Elite; they know who they are; AND SO DO WE. Their time is nearly over.

And so it is.....

This is a telepathic message from David S333, a member of the Spiritual Hierarchy, received and transcribed by Vince – 26th February 2010.

S333 – Work Until You Die – 26th February 2010

Dear Ones,

You will know by now, that your present reality is controlled by the Dark Elite, and who have turned most of you into economic slaves. They own most of their paper wealth, control almost all of the media, and appoint their carefully chosen henchmen, some to become politicians for you to vote into office; and others to run most of the state and commercial organisations, and to ensure that you are kept in your place, as decided by them.

But at least when you reach retirement age, you can look forward to a good pension and plenty of time to do what you want to at last. Well, that's a bit of yesterday's concept now, because most of you aren't going to have a decent pension any more; the Dark Elite have seen to that.

It doesn't take much manipulation of the financial strings to bring on one crisis or another, so that pension schemes collapse; inflation gets out of control, making your pension worth less in time to come; and ensuring stock market crashes which drastically cut the value of the underlying investment fund.

Some Public Pensions are still OK though, as they are paid for out of public money, from the taxpayer (That's You!), so not only do you have to take a reduced pension, but you've got to fork out for ex-civil servants and other public sector workers' pensions as well. So, in all probability, many of you will have to work after retirement age to help pay for all that. That is IF you can find a job, and they're going to be increasingly harder to find, because all the jobs you might have taken are being done by immigrants, and many of them don't even speak the language of your country. (SEE NOTE BELOW*)

So, for many of you the outlook is bleak, and you can't vote these policies out of office, because whatever the politics of the people you last voted for are, the policies came from the Dark Elite. They take the long term view, over many hundreds and more years, so that while you are just trying to feed, clothe, and house your family, these dynasties are plotting how to further enslave you. Make no mistake, you are slaves, and even many apparently well-off businessmen and women are caught in a trap they wish they could get out of, and some of them take their own lives under such pressures.

So, what's the point of this message?

I am trying to help you stand back and take a good objective view of yourself, your family and your society, and see what it is really like, not what you've been conned to believing.

The Dark Elite are at a point where they are losing control, because they are EVIL. There are new energies being beamed into Earth, and Dark and Evil people will not be able to survive in them, as it will become impossible. This is part of a Divine Decree to restore Earth to the condition it was intended to be, and the Dark vermin will be leaving.

Now, many of you will think this is phoney, and that there is no Creator and no Spiritual Hierarchy.

Well, there is an old saying, that 'the proof of the pudding is in the eating', you may have heard it before. I say to you from my position in the midst of that very Spiritual Hierarchy, most of you WILL see this in your lifetime, and sooner than you may think. Then you will know that your Creator DOES exist, and cares for the ordinary people, the animals and the plants on your blue/ green planet.

Those of you staying on Earth will then be free of the vermin who have tied you down, and free to assist in building a new, fair and spiritual world, free of financial slavery. It won't be long.

And so it is.....

This is a telepathic message from David S333 of the Spiritual Hierarchy, received and transcribed by Vince.

 NOTE: Many decent, hard working people migrate to other countries where they live, work and pay taxes. This message was not intended to attack them, but to point out how the Dark Elite starve their home countries of investment to keep them poor, forcing them to migrate to richer countries, where they are often exploited as cheap labour.

S333 – Disinformation from the Dark Ones – 28th February 2010

My Dear Ones,

When your Spiritual Gas Tank is running on empty, what do you do? Lie, of course!

Faced with truth from the Spiritual Hierarchy being posted on certain websites, what can the Dark Elite do? Well, they can't get information from us, can they; as they've chosen the path of Evil?

Not only that, but as the new levels of Spiritual Energy is beamed into Earth, everything is changing. Forget what was; that's gone; it won't be coming back and the Dark Ones can't do a thing about it.

Sure, they can try and break the Euro currency, and plunge Southern European countries into economic collapse, for that's all they understand; Destruction! They make sure drugs are peddled on the streets of YOUR town, and pay their cronies millions of Dollars, for doing their bidding, and you the customer and taxpayer pick up the tab.

They are Morally & Spiritually bankrupt; and soon to be Financially bankrupt. Yes, they've still got paper money, but that isn't backed by precious metal, it's fiat money and has no real value.

Watch what's going on with Planet Earth; there have been 2 more earthquakes today; Chile & Japan, and do you know what; this is just the beginning of profound changes to your world. However much the Dark websites try and cover up and deny what is plain for all to see, just wait and watch, and you are going to witness many more major geological events worldwide, and then you'll know who's telling the truth.

One day, you will see two Suns in your sky, the usual one, and another baby Sun. Now, I know many of you will say this is rubbish, and that's perfectly understandable, but just you make a mental note of what I've said, then when it happens, you'll understand that the Divine Decree is in operation as we promised.

All the Dark Ones can offer you is Death & Destruction, Financial Turmoil and False Flag Terrorism; Lies & Fixed Elections; Joblessness; Financial Slavery and worse. They should do themselves a favor and throw in the towel now, before they do themselves any more harm. Our Creator is merciful and even now at this late stage is prepared to welcome His wayward Sons and Daughters home to safety, and help get them back on a Spiritual path.

I say to them now, please take up this offer, as it is in your best long term interests. Don't be foolish and prolong this idiocy any longer; you can't win anyway.

Just listen to the Earth, and watch the Sky, that's where you'll learn the truth of this message.

And so it is.....

This is a telepathic message from David S333 of the Spiritual Hierarchy, received and transcribed by Vince.

ERETHEA