

Hello Dear Ones,

It is I, David; who you know by the label S333, and I am of the Spiritual Hierarchy.

I want you to know that you are loved unconditionally by the Father, whom we shall call Christ Michael. Now what does this unconditional love mean, for surely everything comes with a price ticket, doesn't it? No, there is no price to pay, and that's what unconditional love is about.

Do you have children, or know someone who does? Then you'll know that most parents love their children whether they are good or naughty; sure they'll prefer them to be good, but the naughty ones are still loved. Do you have a domestic pet? Well, these animals love their human family unconditionally, even when they are treated badly, for they know that love heals, love is good, love is the enveloping warmth of light from the source of all that is, and it is wonderful.

Do you think that you are very much unloved? It may be that you've had a very rough time so far this lifetime; and that nobody around you cares a snitch for you; but you'd be wrong. Didn't Christ Michael our Creator God create you in his own image? I don't mean that if you look in the mirror you will see an image of the Father, but that he created you from his own energy. It is possible to write this in so many ways and use a whole variety of terms, but in the end there is bound to be someone who still doesn't understand; so let us say that deep within you is a piece of God.

Many of you will have found that fragment, and used it to start upon the first step of a ladder to improve your spirituality and lightness and 'loveness', if you have such a word in your English dictionaries? We understand concepts very well, but do have to make up words to fit, as we have to give messages to many people who speak the different languages of your world.

Have you found this God fragment inside you yet? It can be found when you are in some of the most difficult circumstances you could imagine, and quite often it is left alone until a serious or life threatening event affects the individual, and they 'turn to God', to use an English expression. But, in a way, God does not have to be turned to because he is already there inside you; except that most people don't bother to look, or look in the wrong places. Don't look to find God by a so-called Holy Man persuading you to be baptised with water, or by chanting mantras, or by reading prayers from a convenient prayer book, for these are diversions.

Can you find God by belonging to a Religion such as exist in your world; then the answer is yes; but that 'yes' has to be qualified by also adding an; 'and no' to it? Many religions were taken over and formalised with the intention of creating control over you, and extracting more of your wealth from you, and that philosophy pervades the management structure of many religions. Does that mean that your local priest or monk, or other professional holy man is not helping you to find God; then the answer is that he may well be helping you, but inevitably he may be one of the many who are not?

God does not require you to come to him by wearing a certain type of hat or robe, and some of the worst rituals like flagellation are absolutely not required or desired. God wants you to find His love and compassion, and signs of it are everywhere around you if you did but look. God can be found within you, and the term; 'I love you with all of my heart', is particularly appropriate. Did you know that your heart is full of neurological cells, and as a method of 'feeling' and 'knowing', this organ is as important to you as your brain as it is, shall we say; hot wired to God?

When people who are in touch with God say something like; "I went with my heart, and not my head on this one, and it worked out fine", this is an example of someone being in touch with God, although for many people this is completely natural, and they haven't had to 'find God' by searching here and there, for God was already there within them and they knew that naturally. They didn't have to read something out of a prayer book, but just asked for help on a particular issue for themselves or other people. We could also describe it as positive thought projection.

Now, I am not slamming prayer books as such, for they have their place in the scheme of things, but at their worst they prevent an individual from talking to God using the small voice within us all, by removing the spontaneity and creativity from the process of one's own communion with God. If you take away the individual's opportunity to stand in front of the Father and say your piece to Him, then you potentially take away their freedom and they are then less likely to use their free-will to live their lives in harmony with Divine Law, because it is only by being in constant contact with the God within that the individual can know when they are about to transgress Divine Law.

God loves you unconditionally, just as he loves me the same, and although I am of the Spiritual Hierarchy I am also your Brother, for we are all related and have this piece of God within us; neither one of us is regarded as better than another and God loves the archbishop and the bus driver just the same.

Now, as there are so many billions of people on your planet, I cannot say that any one of a number of different methods of finding God within you is appropriate for any given individual; but what I will say is, that if you open up your mind to the possibility that you may find this fragment of God within you, then you will be guided naturally to the best way forward to achieve this. That is how you create; by considering a concept and questioning how you would achieve the end result, and by so doing, you will find God and know His unconditional love.

I am S333 of the Spiritual Hierarchy, and I bring you this message telepathically transmitted to Vince to transcribe this day – 19th March 2010.

And so it is.....
