

S333 - The Troublesome Dark Ones

There is you might say, a period of calm before the storm; and when the storm breaks it will be everything you've been lead to expect, and a great deal more besides.

We have reached a critical point where we have to pull the rabbit out of the hat, and all other avenues are becoming closed to us. The Dark Ones are playing very dark and naughty games in various parts of the planet, and many of them are now working for their own uncreation. These sorely misguided folks have been engaged upon their evil activities for any number of incarnations, and they don't intend to stop now, for anyone.

The Spiritual Hierarchy have bent over backwards to wait for them to accept our offer of being saved; if only they'll give it up and turn to the light, but they have no intention of doing so. There have been successes, but not nearly enough, and it has become only too clear that what many of you said would happen is taking place; and that is the Dark Ones have raised the stakes, and are just carrying on.

Because we do not live in your world, we do not have the vast experience of these matters as you do, and we now understand why you have kept on being sceptical about the datelines we have given you at various times about when the Dark Ones would be vanquished. Clearly many of them are beyond salvation, and as Christ Michael's children; clearly that is a serious matter to contemplate, that there is no hope of them changing; ever!

The penny has finally dropped, and we now see the picture clearly. This means an alteration to our plans, as we have to deal with these miscreants, and they will have to be removed and suffer the final sanction of being uncreated; so this is a very sad occasion, where the Father must oversee the destruction of His own Children, for there is now no other course of action possible.

There will be various updates made available during the next few days, but for now we are just announcing this solemn occasion, and then we have to take action accordingly.

And so it is.....
